

Finland Calls Out Troops To Smash Communist Strikes

By USKO KAUPPALA
Helsinki, Finland, Aug. 19 (P)—The Finnish government called its first today to smash a growing Communist offensive as troops were called out to quell violence in the latest Red strike wave.

Unto Varjonen, minister without portfolio, and head of a cabinet board chosen to deal with strike threats, said the offensive is designed to make Finland a Communist state.

Varjonen declared the government intends to "inflict a crushing defeat on the Communists."

Violence broke out yesterday in the lumbering town of Kemi, in northern Finland, on the Gulf of Bothnia. Police and striking lumberjacks exchanged fire after 1,500 strikers smashed through police lines in an effort to attack workers who were reporting for duty at a timber-sorting dam. Police used blackjacks and tear gas bombs in an attempt to disperse the milling lumberjacks. Finally, they said, they fired warnings into the air. The strikers replied with pistol fire.

Maj. Gen. Arne Blick, commanding officer of the first Finnish infantry regiment station at Oulu, 60 miles south of Kemi, said one striker was killed and nine other persons, including three policemen, were injured.

The government declared that the Kemi outbreak was the first blow in a nationwide strike offensive designed to "create chaos in order to usurp power and establish a people's democracy (Communist government) in Finland."

Most of Finland's trade union members are non-Communists and some 200,000 of the 300,000 unionists may defy the strike call.

However, a walkout of 100,000 members could throw the nation's economic life seriously out of gear. Nearly all unions have announced strike actions within the next eight days. Several already are out.

Finland's social Democratic government has been under Soviet fire for some time, although Russia has a friendship and mutual defense treaty with Finland. The Soviets also keep a base in Finnish territory.

Deep Freezer Gifts Linked With Perfume

BY OLIVER W. DEWOLF
Washington, Aug. 19 (P)—Senator Mundt (R-SD) sought today to link a flying trip to Paris in 1945 by three agents of a Chicago perfume firm with the firm's gifts of home freezers to Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan "and his friends."

Mundt told reporters that the testimony given the Senate investigations committee secretly Monday, and made public yesterday, "begins to disclose a suspicion of a motive of what is behind the gifts of deep freezers."

He referred to freezers paid for by the Albert H. Verley Perfume Company which were sent to Mrs. Harry S. Truman, General Vaughan and four other administration officials during the summer of 1945 and the winter of 1945-46.

Three representatives of the Verley Company made the Paris trip on an army transport plane in July, 1945 at a time, Mundt said, "when businessmen just couldn't get there."

Mundt is a member of the committee which is looking into the activities of "five percenters"—individuals who search out government contracts for others at a fee usually five percent.

Two of the central figures in the inquiry are Vaughan, President Truman's military aide, and John Maragan, Washington man-about-town who used to have free access to the White House.

The testimony released by the committee yesterday, after President Truman had accused it of withholding testimony "favorable" to Vaughan while producing the unfavorable parts at public hearings, threw a new spotlight on the two men.

Negro Riddled With Slugs By Chicago Police

Fire Ousts Gunman In 3-Hour Fight

Chicago, Aug. 19. (P)—A barricaded Negro stood off 125 policemen in a three-hour gun battle last night before they set fire to his home, then riddled him with bullets as he attempted to escape.

He was wanted for shooting a child.

All during the battle, the besieged Negro, Ernest Craig, 28, continued firing from windows with two revolvers and a rifle. Police poured hundreds of bullets and tossed about 200 tear gas bombs into the two-story frame house before they applied the torch.

As the flames spread throughout the first floor and started into the upper story, Craig went out a second story window and slid to the ground in an 18-inch passageway between his corner home and the neighboring house.

Police spotted him after he had reached the ground and immediately opened fire with four machine guns. At least 50 bullets hit Craig. As he lay on the ground, Detective Charles McCabe stood over him and fired four or five more bullets into the body from his service pistol.

House Destroyed

A first attempt to force Craig out of the building by fire failed. The officers tossed flares into the front of the building and as the blaze began to spread a detail of policemen moved into the building. They were forced back by bullets from Craig's guns. Firemen doused the blaze and more gas bombs were thrown in, but Craig stubbornly continued the fight and taunted police to "come in and get me."

The second fire was started about a half hour later and it was allowed to destroy the house.

Two policemen were wounded in the exchange of bullets. Detective Marshall Pidgeon, 51, was shot twice in the back and once in an

Texas Man Soaks Himself With Gas, Dies Torch Death

San Antonio, Tex., Aug. 19 (P)—Jephia J. Allen, 50, saturated himself with gasoline yesterday, touched a match to his clothing and died a flaming torch.

Justice of the Peace John N. Ogden returned an inquest verdict of suicide.

Allen's blazing body was found in a pasture by Deputy Sheriff Bob Beckman and Ogden. They said he saturated himself with a gallon of gas under a tree beside the road and ran into the field, setting fire to the grass.

His 1935 model coupe stood in the highway. On the seat, anchored by his billfold, was a roughly scribbled note.

It said, "by side of road."

Allen had been a civil service employee at Kelly Air Force base for 30 years.

His wife said he had been on sick leave for five weeks.

Former King Carol

Weds Elena Again In Religious Ceremony

Lisbon, Portugal, Aug. 19 (P)—Former King Carol of Romania and Mme. Elena Lupescu were married in a religious ceremony last night at the ex-monarch's Estoril residence.

The Rev. Hartinian Ivinovitch, head of the Romanian (Greek Orthodox) church in Paris, came here to officiate at the ceremony.

Carol and Elena, whose romance flourished more than two decades despite family objections and political upheavals were married in Rio de Janeiro in an "extreme" civil ceremony in July, 1947, when Elena was believed at the point of death.

Clark told reporters he wants to talk with McGrath and Chief Justice Fred Vinson before he decides when to take the high court oath. He said he would like to have it administered by Vinson.

As the eighth Democrat on the nine-member supreme court, Clark will go into office with an overwhelming Senate vote behind him. The decision was not reached without bitter criticism of the nominee, met by vigorous defense.

The Swedish star, who has announced plans to divorce her husband, Dr. Peter Lindstrom, and retire from films, is scheduled to shoot the last scene of her Robert Rossellini-directed movie this morning.

However, Joseph Steele, her personal representative, said: "I think it would be a mistake if she ended her career in pictures forever." He hinted strongly that Rossellini might persuade La Bergman to resume her career.

Asphalt Crushes Boy

Mt. Clemens, Mich., Aug. 19 (P)—Clyde Schmideke, 14, was crushed to death yesterday when a 30-pound piece of asphalt, thrown from a bridge, struck his head.

A workman, Walter Baumbauer, 54, said he was tossing torn up asphalt into the Clinton river and that the boy ran out from beneath the bridge just as he dropped the fatal block.

Saturday Farmers Day, Fair Program Changes

Reds Seize Key City In Drive On Canton

By SPENCER MOOSA

Canton, Aug. 19 (P)—The battle for Canton neared today with the Communist capture of a key city 170 miles to the northeast.

The city is Tayu. It is in the broad Kan River Valley, which leads to Canton. Tayu's fall was announced by the defense ministry.

With Tayu gone, the road is more or less clear to Kungong, 70 miles to the west. When the Reds reach Kungong the battle for Canton itself is begun, military observers believe.

Kukong is 120 miles to the north on the railway from Canton to the Yangtze valley and Central China.

The loss of Kukong would isolate Canton from the 200,000-man army of Gen. Pai Chung-hsi, commander on the front to the north.

Press reports said civilians in increasing numbers were fleeing from Kukong.

The defense ministry asserted that Pai's forces had wiped out a Communist division and an artillery battalion in a battle 50 miles northwest of Hengyang.

Hengyang is Pai's base 265 miles almost due north of Canton. The ministry said most of the Red forces were killed and except for a handful the rest were captured. (This might mean 10,000 men.)

Underscoring the gravity of Canton's situation, the U. S. embassy announced it was moving to Hong Kong, the British crown colony to the south.

Embassy officials will commute daily with Canton as long as conditions permit. The consulate staff was flying out by U. S. Navy plane.

Most of the public school enrollment this fall will be the first above the million-mark since 1932.

In addition, another 200,000 boys and girls are expected to enroll in private and parochial schools.

Most of the public school increase will be in the lower grades, the result of the wartime boom in births.

But Dr. Thurston said that a declining labor market may keep more youngsters in high school this year, upsetting the recent stability in secondary school enrollments.

The state will put up a record $140,000,000 during the year for public education, while local taxes will provide another $75,000,000—or a total of $215,000,000.

Dr. Thurston said teachers' salaries should reach an average of $3,400 this year, an increase of $200 over last year.

In addition, he said, an easing of the teacher shortage would reduce overloading in many classes. The shortage remaining is largely in the elementary schools.

State Parole Board Vacancy Is Filled

Lansing, Aug. 19 (P)—John A. Trudell, district supervisor of paroles in Jackson, was appointed to the state parole board today.

He fills a vacancy created by the transfer of Garret Hynes to be warden of the Ionia reformatory.

A native of Detroit, Trudell, 42, is vice president of the Michigan parole and probation association and secretary of the Central State Parole and Probation Association.

He has 10 children.

Monroe Murder Still Unsolved

Slain Woman's Body Not Yet Identified

Monroe, Mich., Aug. 19 (P)—Failure to identify the victim today continued to stall an investigation into the slaying of a middle-aged woman whose body was found in a ditch near here three days ago.

State and local police began a systematic check of hotels, tourist camps, restaurants and taverns throughout southeastern Michigan in search of possible clues.

Pictures and fingerprints of the slain woman were sent to the FBI in Washington and to police departments in larger cities throughout the country for possible identification.

The corpse was found Tuesday floating in a ditch northwest of here by a 15-year-old boy. She was described as being between 45 and 50 years old, five feet two inches tall, and rather plump.

The body was fully clad. State police believed she had been killed elsewhere and the body brought to the ditch. They theorized she was killed with a heavy blow just behind her left ear.

New Vaudeville Acts Scheduled At Grandstand

Horses To Pull For Heavyweight Title

The grandstand entertainment program at the Upper Peninsula State Fair in Escanaba changes Saturday as WLS National Barn Dance, featuring Rex Allen, Republic Film singing cowboy star, takes over the leading role, both afternoon and evening.

Saturday is Farmer's Day at the State Fair. The heavyweight horse pulling contest will be conducted in front of the grandstand Saturday afternoon, beginning at one o'clock.

At 10 o'clock Saturday morning the model airplane contest will be held at the pistol range. Prizes will be awarded for best models and a controlled U-stock flying model contest will be held.

Memorial To Turner

The dedication of the Joseph E. Turner memorial buildings is scheduled for 11 o'clock Saturday morning. The 4-H club dormitory and dining hall buildings will be dedicated in memory of the former Delta county agricultural agent who served from 1922 to 1935 and who played a leading role in the early days of the 4-H club movement. Ben Westrate, Marquette, assistant state 4-H club leader, will accept the buildings for present and future youth of the Upper Peninsula.

Saturday is the second of the two children's days at the fairgrounds. Rides and shows will be offered to children from 11 a. m. to six p. m. at an extremely low rate.

Starring the WLS show, in addition to Rex Allen, are the Prairie Rumpers, an outstanding musical unit of the WLS troupe.

Day Sets Record

The lightweight horse pulling contest was conducted this afternoon at the fair and the heavier horses will show their stuff Saturday on the tractive dynamometer.

A tremendous crowd of patrons visited the fair all day Thursday and Thursday night. Governor G. Mennen Williams and Mrs. Williams were presented on the stage at the grandstand at both the afternoon and evening presentations.

Governor Williams presented the U. P. State Fair Queen, Judy White, to the audience and in the afternoon he presented the awards to winning counties in the 4-H club parade.

The largest single day's crowd in the fair's history was on hand Thursday. Compared with the previous record, set on Escanaba Day a year ago, receipts and patrons ran ahead of last year until evening when a sharp cold wind slightly reduced the attendance at the grandstand. The record outpouring of humanity was on the grounds, however, and was the drop in grandstand receipts was counterbalanced by a proportionate increase in the fair's percentage of receipts from rides and shows.

A magnificent gladioli show takes featured position in the exhibition building, starting this morning. The flowers are both abundant and beautiful.

Turk Quake Kills 50

Istanbul, Turkey, Aug. 19. (P)—Fifty persons were killed and from 62 to 73 were injured in the earthquake which shook eastern Turkey Wednesday night, official sources said today.

REPAIRMAN ELECTROCUTED

Port Huron, (P)—Leo W. Kierman, 33-year-old father of four small children, was electrocuted Thursday when he touched a 4,800-volt wire while he was working as a repairman at the top of a utility pole.

British Airways Wreck Kills 22 Near Manchester

Manchester, Eng., Aug. 19 (P)—A British European Airways Dakota transport plane crashed today at nearby Oldham and first reports said 22 of the 32 persons aboard were killed.

The plane had left Belfast, northern Ireland. It was approaching Manchester in bad weather at the time of the crash.

The plane fell in Cew Valley, 13 miles northeast of this city. A heavy mist lay over the mountain moorland, which borders on Yorkshire. Witnesses said the plane broke in two and burst into flames on the mountainside.

Kalamazoo Rioters Will Be Tried Again

Kalamazoo, Mich., Aug. 19 (P)—Five CIO United Steelworkers officials indicted in the Dec. 1 Shakespeare companies raid will be tried again, special Prosecutor Clair S. Beebe indicated today.

Beebe was given full charge of the case today by Attorney General Stephen J. Roth. It had been up to Roth to decide whether the state would prosecute the defendants again after the first trial ended in a deadlocked jury.

Immediately after Roth made his announcement, Beebe said: "I am beginning work as of this hour to prepare the state's case."

Ruler Of Klan Dies Suddenly

Heart Attack Fatal To Atlanta Doctor

By BEM PRICE
Atlanta, Aug. 19 (P)—A heart attack last night killed imperial wizard Samuel Green, the fanatical ruler of the Ku Klux Klan.

There was no doubt, however, that the Klan would carry on though minus the energetic leadership of the thin, 59-year-old physician with the Hitler-like mustache.

A leading Ku Kluxer here said the board of directors probably would meet next week to name a successor to the rasp-voiced little man who breathed a spirit of resurgency into the "invisible empire."

Though Dr. Green had been a Klansman for 31 years, his family asked that the fact be omitted from his obituary.

At the time of his death, Dr. Green's passion for preaching "white supremacy" had made him a target for aroused newspaper editors and public officials.

They feared the Klan might ride to power again on prejudice, as it did in the decade of the 1920's, and become once more a powerful political factor in the South.

It was not until after the late war that the Klan began to emerge again as a factor in southern life under the leadership of Dr. Green.

For his activities in reorganizing and revitalizing the Klan, he recently was made "imperial wizard" formerly he was called the "grand dragon."

Population Of U. S. A. Nearing 150 Million

Washington, Aug. 19 (P)—The United States population is growing at the rate of 200,000 a month and may reach 150,000,000 by November 1.

This report from the census bureau said that the estimated population was 149,215,000 on July 1.

The bureau also estimated that in April this year there were 38,537,000 families in the U. S., as compared with 32,166,000 in 1940.

CRUSHED BY TRUCK

Coldwater, (P)—Pinned against a building wall when his grocery delivery truck accidentally rolled down an incline, 51-year-old Scott Culp of Mendon was crushed to death Thursday. Culp was employed by a wholesale grocery firm and was unloading his truck when the mishap occurred.

Runaway Trailer Messes Up Street At Laramie, Wyo.

Laramie, Wyo., Aug. 19 (P)—Rocketing out of a mountain canyon at 100 miles an hour, a runaway semi-trailer truck laid waste to Laramie's main street yesterday.

The grain-laden truck injured five persons, damaged nine automobiles and wrecked two buildings. Damage was estimated at $30,000.

Driver Ernest Kirk, 26, of Beatrice, Neb., said the brakes failed on the Telephone Canyon road. It drops 2,000 feet in three miles. He said the truck was going more than 100 miles an hour when it shot out of the canyon, five miles east of here.

The speed had dropped only slightly, he said, when he reached city limits. The truck sideswiped a highway patrolman's car first.

In the next two blocks the hurtling truck brushed two other cars. The third collision jack-knifed the trailer. The cab went hurtling against four cars. The trailer wrecked two others before plowing into a bar and a cafe.

The brick fronts were torn loose from the buildings.

KAYOEED BY RADIO

Kalamazoo, (P)—Mrs. Mary Finely, 21, was knocked unconscious Thursday when she turned on a table radio while her hand was wet from dishwashing. She was revived by a fire department inhalator squad.

Senators Here For U. P. Fair

Tripp, Ellsworth Visit Escanaba

State Senators H. D. Tripp of Allegan, Republican candidate for lieutenant governor in the September primaries, and William Ellsworth of St. Ignace, representing the 30th district including Delta county, today visited Escanaba and the U. P. State Fair.

Sen. Ellsworth said that while he is here he is contacting local persons regarding possible changes in the fishing laws for local bay waters as they affect hook and line fishermen.

Sen. Tripp, now in his fourth term for the Eighth district, is president pro-tem of the senate. He is co-author of the widely discussed Bonine-Tripp labor law.

A 1947 bill by Sen. Tripp, passed by the senate but killed in the house, proposing to take the state out of the liquor business without loss of control over the trade, was another controversial measure authored by the senator.

"I haven't changed by mind about that," Sen. Tripp said. "I still think the state can control the liquor business without making the people a partner in it. I see no reason for the state to tie up $21,000,000 of the taxpayers' money in liquor. I should get out of the buying and selling."

Sen. Tripp said his proposal would mean about 900 fewer employees on the state payroll and would leave the $21,000,000 now tied up in liquor inventory for other purposes—"for building mental hospitals let us say."

The state would continue to control pricing and the revenue to the state would be the same as now, he added.

Sault Centennial Measure Signed By Pres. Truman

Word was received from Washington that Rep. Charles E. Potter and Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg were at the White House this morning when President Truman signed the Potter bill for appointment of a nine-man commission to be in charge of the Sault Ste. Marie centennial celebration.

The commission will be appointed by the President. Rep. Potter said the preliminary steps are being taken "a little early," but he wanted a commission ready for the centennial in 1955.

Room Drawings On Exhibit At U. P. State Fair

An unusual exhibit at the U. P. State Fair, which should interest anyone interested in a new home or a modernized home, is the Chicago Tribune display of prize winning room drawings. The exhibit, procured by the Fair board, is on the third floor of the exhibition building.

The room drawings suggest a great variety of decorating ideas. Samples of rugs and other materials are shown, and various color schemes are depicted.

"The drawings are very worthwhile seeing, and should interest everyone," Mrs. T. M. Cassidy of Escanaba said today.

Story Of Steel Making Starts On Iron Ranges

How is steel made today?

The steel-making process starts at Minnesota mines on the Mesabi iron range, where the red iron ore is either dug from underground mines or scooped from great open pits. Loaded in freight cars, the ore is given a chemical analysis while the train is en route to the head of the Great Lakes at Duluth.

On arrival at the big railroad yards at the ore-loading docks, the various carloads are switched about until a string of cars is made up bearing ores of the chemical composition needed for making a specific batch of steel at a certain blast furnace. The ore is then loaded aboard a Great Lakes ship, and heads for one of the big steel centers, like Gary, Ind.

Munising Opposes Plan To Abandon Coast Guard Unit

Munising — Twenty-four persons, representing several Munising and Alger county organizations, voiced protests here at a hearing held by a U. S. Maritime Service board on a proposal to abandon the Munising Coast Guard station at Sand Point.

On the hearing board were Rear Admiral Joseph Greenspun, Capt. Dwight A. Chase, and Cmdr. Erick A. Anderson, Washington, D. C., and Capt. Edwin J. Roland and Capt. Stanley Woychowski, of the Ninth Coast Guard district, Cleveland, Ohio.

Organizations represented were the Alger county board of supervisors, Munising Conservation club, Rotary club, American Legion, Lake Superior Trollers association, Lions club, Munising Commercial Fishermen's association and the Munising - Alger Chamber of Commerce.

Decision Later
Members of the board made no comment after the hearing, except to say a decision would be reached later.

Dr. R. T. Tearnan, president of the Chamber of Commerce, introduced Arthur D. Wood, who reviewed the services the Munising Coast Guard crew performed, including protection of the S. S. South American, Grand Island ferry, Pictured Rocks boat service, coal boats, local pleasure craft, commercial fisheries and sport trollers.

Over 1000 Have Chests X-Rayed

During the first three days of the U. P. State Fair here, 1384 persons had their chests x-rayed, to check for tuberculosis, health department figures revealed last night.

Thursday 624 persons were x-rayed, setting a new high for any day at the Fair in previous years. Gunnar Berglund is x-ray technician for the state department of health.

Escanaba women who have volunteered their services to aid on this project thus far, are Mesdames Joseph Cota, Carl Benzing, Stanley Beggs, Russell Owen, H. C. Gerletti, John Lucke, William Henderson, E. G. Bennett, H. J. Huckenspahr, R. A. Wohlen, Harry Hogan, Charles Neumeier, Fred LaBranche, Richard Knopp and K. F. Harrington, and Miss Marsha Lowell.

Powers-Spalding Canning Center Open To Everyone

Powers-Spalding has one of the three community canning centers in the Upper Peninsula, and the center is open to everyone, whether or not they live in Spalding township.

The center is a small, well-equipped canning factory. Patrons bring their produce to the center, where they first clean and prepare it, and then pack it in cans to be processed and cooled. A service charge of five cents is made for a No. 2 can and six cents for a No. 3. Cans electricity, steam and maintenance are provided for the charge. Money collected from patrons also helps defray the salary of the supervisor, and the balance is paid by the state.

Meats, fruits, berries, vegetables, pumpkin and apple for pies, apple sauce and tomato juice can be canned at the center. A large steam kettle expedites making of apple sauce and tomato juice, when these are handled in quantities of a bushel or more. An electric pulper has been ordered.

The centers are open to everyone and visitors are welcome. Appointments for time can be made by calling the school office at Powers, 2277; or the supervisor, at Powers 2440 in the mornings. The canning factory is in the Powers hall.

That's OUR Business!

What kind of meals do we serve here? Well, sir that's our business! To put it more bluntly our business depends on the kind of meals we serve. That's why our business is getting beyond us. We find that people really like those delicious, cooked-just-right dinners; those big tasty sandwiches; and our rich flavored coffee. Yes sir—what we serve is our business—and it just has to be the best you can get.

Mitchell Book Highly Rated

'Gone With the Wind' Great Novel—Ruark

By ROBERT C. RUARK
New York—Now that Margaret Mitchell's dead, I suppose the critics will finally get around to calling her an artist instead of a one-shot phenomenon, and "Gone With the Wind" will wind up in history as one of the greater American novels.

That is what it was, of course, despite the fact that the author, was an amateur, here was none of the tedious, windy sermonizing that now tends to stamp a book as an art form, and the characters, perhaps were cut too closely to a Hollywood pattern. That is mere coincidence, and should reflect no discredit on Miss Mitchell or her telephone-tome sized epic.

GWTW was a tremendously long book, over 1000 pages as I remember, but it never abandoned its pace and it never sagged in the middle. Unlike that wordy bore, "Anthony Adverse," which preceded it, it employed no mysticism or allegory. And unlike all the other dreary plagiarisms which followed, GWTW drew a sharp and remarkably accurate picture of a starkly dramatic time.

Few Flaws in Book

Since its publication more than a decade ago, I have read and re-read GWTW half-a-dozen times, looking for flaws in its construction, characterization and plot. I never found any worthy of remembering. Neither the wilful Miss O'Hara, the flamboyant Butler nor the wistful Wilkes were overblown, in terms of the post civil war period.

Miss Mitchell never knew a lot of long, tough words, but her dialog was ear-perfect her descriptive stuff was as sound as any of the tonier professionals have produced lately. Her research was both colossal and accurate. The critics knocked her around some, but about the only real fault you could find with GWTW was that it was so easy to read that 8 million people read it. This always outrages the precious boys who will find artistic merit in nothing this side of Virginia Woolf.

One of the things I always admired about Miss Mitchell was her complete lack of pretense of professional authorship. She spent 10 years or so hammering out the epic she knew so well, and was content to float on the sulash it created and the money it made. She never made a move to rush into print again with a shoddy substitute, which would have automatically sold several million copies on the impact of her name. She sat quietly at home in Atlanta, counted her money, looked after her foreign rights, and never changed her weight around a nickel's worth.

Immortal Characters

I suppose they will shoot me for saying that Scarlett and Rhett and Mammy will hang around the future with Huck Finn and Tom Sawyer but they will. In my third year Miss Mitchell's labor showed a higher craftsmanship than a great deal of Mark Twain's work, which on often bounded off to a shaggy dog and wound up, when, to my disappointment, I felt you have "Gone With the Wind" which was destined to prove for the first half of the book and fetched up as pulp fiction.

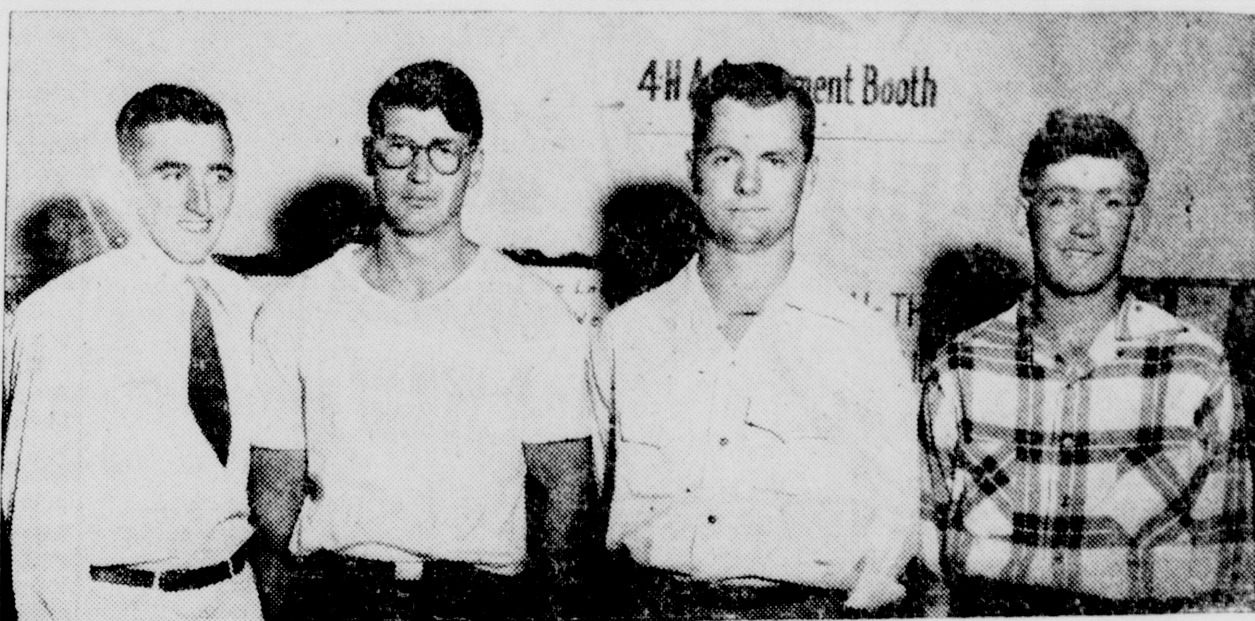

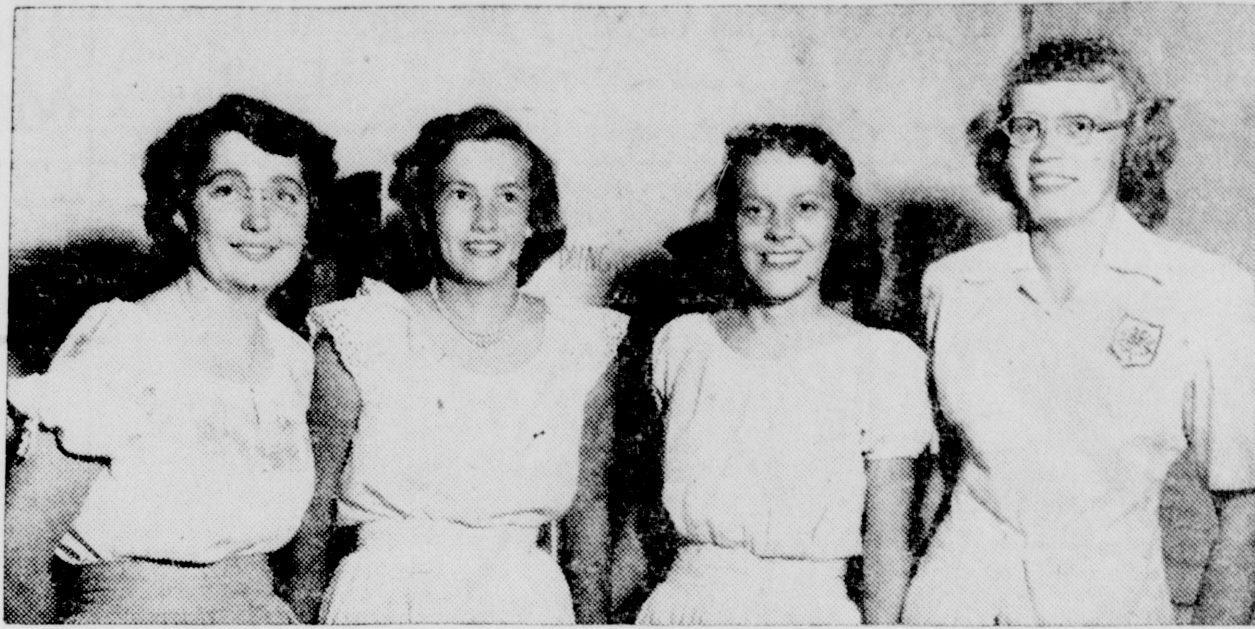

You cannot set common critical standards against a book that so inflames the public imagination that the citizens of 30 foreign lands are avidly familiar with the burning of Atlanta and the strains of postwar reconstruction. GWTW was the top literary phenomenon of the age and as such strode strongly away from the miserable muck that has since been labelled "historical novel."

Only one major criticism can be fired at Miss Mitchell as an author. She fired the pattern for the copycats, so that ever since 1936 we have wallowed helplessly in a quagmire of busy, tempestuous heroines, side-whiskered bravos, and cornpone conservatism, written largely by natives of New Hampshire and Vermont on the strength of an afternoon's visit to the public library. And that, again, merely strengthens "Gone With the Wind's" position as an all-time epic of the American south.

Carney Man Held Here For Driving Car Recklessly

A charge of reckless driving has been lodged against Bernard Tobin of Escanaba police. Tobin was involved in an accident last night at the intersection of Ludington and 14th streets when he failed to stop for a red traffic signal. Tobin crashed into a car driven by Earl Destrampe of 215 North 15th street, damaging the right front end of the Destrampe car and the front end and left side of his own car.

Only two other accidents, both minor, occurred here yesterday. A new 1949 car owned and driven by Thor Lieungh of 1214 First avenue south was damaged when struck by a car driven by Gale Schnurer of Manistique, who was attempting to pass another car and cars driven by Mrs. Helen Cloutier of 603 Third avenue south and M. E. Oslund of Stephenson avenue were damaged when Mrs. Cloutier stopped for the intersection of Fifth street and Lake Shore drive, and Oslund hit the rear end of her car.

OUTSTANDING 4-H BOYS AND GIRLS. Winners of top honors in 4-H Club competition at the U. P. State Fair are four girls and four boys, whose reward will be an education tour. They are (top left to right) Charlene Loeffler of Spalding, Menominee county; Betty Gustafson, Ensign, Delta county; Betty Mikkola, Bessemer, Gogebic county; and Cynthia Krans, Iron River, Iron county, achievement booth winners; and (bottom left to right) Weldon Pollard, Dickinson county, general achievement; Gerald Gray, Cooks, Schoolcraft county, general achievement; soil conservation and tractor work; Lorin Hulsizer of Ingalls, Menominee county, poultry and electrical handicraft; and David Hamel, Marquette county, potato champion.

Name 4-H Fair Winners; Chippewa Leads Parade

Eight Upper Peninsula young people, four boys and four girls, today were announced as winners of top 4-H Club honors in competition at the U. P. State Fair. They will receive educational tours as their reward.

In the 4-H Club parade yesterday—4-H Day at the fair—Chippewa county placed first, Dickinson county second and Delta third. Trophy awards were presented to the top winners by Gov. G. Mennen Williams, who was at the U. P. State Fair for the day and reviewed the parade in front of the grandstand.

An invocation in the parade this year were county 4-H floats entered by Chippewa and Dickinson. Top honors in the parade were won last year by Dickinson county.

The four young women who placed high in the 4-H achievement contest at the fair were as follows:

Charlene Loeffler of Spalding, Menominee county, who has 14 project years of 4-H work to her credit; Betty Gustafson of Ensign, Delta county, with 24 project years; Betty Mikkola, Bessemer, Gogebic county, 30 project years; and Cynthia Krans, Iron River, Iron county, with 50 project years.

They will be taken on a conducted educational tour through the Middle West.

The four young men who won top honors are Weldon Pollard, Dickinson county, for general achievement in 4-H Club work; Gerald Gray, Cooks, Schoolcraft county, who also has an outstanding record, particularly in soil conservation and tractor work projects; Lorin Hulsizer of Ingalls, Menominee county, whose work in poultry, electrical and handicraft projects is outstanding, and whose experience includes state winner in handicraft a couple years ago plus winning the honor of top poultry judge honors; and David Hamel, potato project champion of Marquette county.

In October the young men will be taken on a trip to the National Dairy Cattle Congress, Waterloo, Iowa.

4-H Club attendance at the fair this year has set new records, according to Ben Westrate, Marquette, assistant state club leader in the Upper Peninsula. The new 4-H barracks and dining hall buildings have been used to capacity, with many boys and girls from other counties finding accommodations there during fair week. Because of the large attendance, no Delta 4-H boys were housed in the 4-H building.

The 4-H buildings will be dedicated at 11 a. m. tomorrow to the memory of the late Joseph E. Turner, former Delta county agricultural agent fatally injured in an auto accident in 1935.

Participating in the "Joseph E. Turner 4-H Club Memorial" program will be three men who knew and worked with Turner while he was Delta county agent. They are Dick Johnston of Ensign, an active 4-H leader when Turner was agent; Russ Horwood, superintendent of MSC agricultural experiment station, dairy specialist in the Upper Peninsula from 1928 to 1938; and George Harvey Sr., Escanaba, U. P. State Fair secretary when Turner was agent.

All 4-H Club members are expected to be present for the dedication, according to J. L. Heiman, Delta agricultural agent, who is arranging the program.

Wilburn Cracks Track Record

Flashy Champ Takes Race Honors Here

Jimmie Wilburn, crack auto race driver and national dirt track champion of 1947, stole the show in the International Motor Contest association races at the Upper Peninsula State Fair here Thursday afternoon. Wilburn not only won all the events in which he participated, including the eight lap final event, but he also set a new track record in the time trials, spinning the half mile oval in 24.73 seconds.

Ben Musick, who won the races here last year, placed second in the feature event and turned in the second fastest time trial, 26.12 seconds.

Wilburn and Musick were driving high powered Offenhauser motors that obviously were faster than any other machines on the track.

Ernie Johnson, of Christine, N. D., placed third in the big event of the day and registered the third fastest time trial, 26.89 seconds. Johnson also won the Australian pursuit race in which Wilburn and Musick did not compete.

Claire Cotter of Austin, Minnesota nosed out Johnson in a special two-car event that produced the most exciting competition of the afternoon. A spurt of speed on the home stretch enabled Cotter to poke his car across the wire a half car length ahead of Johnson's racer.

There was a 12-car field in the races, but the car driven by Cliff Mortenson conked out with a broken axle in the qualifying heats.

Other races were Roy Yauger, who qualified in 29.71 seconds; Hank Snyder, St. Paul, 24.73; Red Lempelius, St. Paul, 29.50; Don Anderson, Minneapolis, 29.78; John Harber, Chicago, 28.25; Bill Mulford, Chicago, 32.10; and Winn Herner, Chicago, 29.90.

New Examiners Hunt Sales Tax Chiselers

Lansing, Aug. 19 (AP)—Forty-seven additional sales tax examiners, one of the 1949 legislature's answer to tax cheating, moved in to the field today.

The new employees, who have undergone a three week training course at Michigan State college, will operate in teams in six areas for the next six weeks, each under the supervision of experienced examiners. The object is to augment their class training with field experience.

The legislature provided additional funds for the examiners as part of a program to reduce sales tax "chiseling."

Photography Unit At U. P. Fair Has Many Fine Prints

The photography department at the U. P. State Fair, which includes interesting portrait pictures, some excellent marine and landscape photographs and a wide variety of compositions, received more entries this year than last.

An outstanding entry in the department was a hand-tinted, enlarged photograph of Kitchitipi Spring at Indian Lake submitted by Mrs. Vernon Linderoth of Manistique. This entry was too large to place in the exhibit divisions, but nevertheless is a remarkable piece of artistic photography.

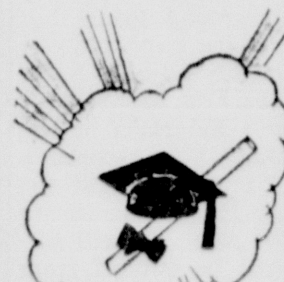

The photography division of the fair is open to all Upper Michigan residents and each may submit up to four prints. Harry Gruber of Escanaba, who won the grand prize this year, is superintendent of the department.

Donn Olin Receives College Scholarship

Donn Olin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Garth Olin of 208 South Seventh street, has been awarded a scholarship to Macalester college, St. Paul, Minn., and will enroll there in pre-law studies this coming fall.

The scholarship was granted on the basis of Olin's scholastic record in Escanaba high school. He will leave for St. Paul Sept. 8.

An iron blade, perhaps 5,000 years old, was found in an Egyptian pyramid.

Congratulations To Queen Judy

CONGRATULATIONS to Miss Judith White, Gladstone's lovely lady who was selected Upper Peninsula State Fair queen. The judges made a grand selection in choosing Miss White to reign over the State Fair at Escanaba. She was chosen from a particularly excellent field of candidates, a fact that adds to the honor of her selection.

In the period following her designation as U. P. State Fair queen, Miss White has proved beyond any doubt that the judging committee made no error in selecting her as the loveliest lady of the fair. She has handled her regal duties with poise and good judgment befitting her crown.

We say again, congratulations to Queen Judy and to the City of Gladstone.

Reckless Driving Must Be Curbed

THE death of Margaret Mitchell, noted author of "Gone With The Wind," has again turned the spotlight on the drunken and reckless driving evil on our highways and streets.

Miss Mitchell was fatally injured by an intoxicated driver, who had a record of 33 previous traffic law violations. Why he was permitted to continue operating a motor vehicle nobody appears to know.

In Escanaba and elsewhere we have drivers who persist in the violation of traffic laws. Efforts on the part of authorities to take their operator's licenses from them are vigorously opposed on the grounds that the driving of their cars is necessary for their business or jobs.

Too many people have been killed and maimed by chronic violators. If they were ruled off the public highways, traffic hazards would be considerably reduced.

King Size Job For Oil Industry

ARE you interested in big figures? Here are some king-size ones, which illustrate the magnitude of the job that has been given to the oil industry.

Last year, cars and trucks and buses traveled an estimated 395,000,000,000 miles, and consumed 20,700,000,000 gallons of gas. The regular scheduled U. S. airlines flew some 7,750,000 passenger miles, and drank up 434,000,000 gallons of fuel. Farmers, with their 3,000,000 tractors, consumed about 10,000,000,000 gallons of assorted oil products. And the railroads and ships used millions of gallons of diesel fuel.

Do those statistics make you dizzy? They are, of course, beyond the ability of anyone save a top-flight mathematician to visualize. The growth of the oil industry has been one of the most colorful and dramatic chapters in the history of America. Fifty years ago it was an infant, supplying us with a small number of products. Now it is a giant that provides thousands of necessities and luxuries in incredible amounts.

The quantity of oil products sold only tells part of the story. Tremendous advances have also been made in the quality. As a typical example, the gasoline we buy today at the corner service station is far superior in performance to that of the past. The industry spends huge sums on research each year, so that still better products will be available in the future.

All For Economy—But Action Is Needed

THE National Retail Dry Goods association, an organization which represents a very large number of retailers throughout the country, has been urging that all store-owners do everything in their power to promote the great cause of government economy. In one of its recent bulletins, it said: "Just now the biggest issue before the nation is the question of economy in government. It is getting lip service and nothing more. You can hardly find a man in public life who will openly defend waste and extravagance. They are all for economy, when they talk about it, but they turn right around and vote more and more billions for all sorts of projects which active special interests want."

No one can deny the truth of this. And retailers, whether they run big stores or small ones, whether they are independents or part of a chain system, certainly understand the evils of waste. American retailing constantly works to give the people more for their money—measured in quantity, quality, service, or any other yardstick. And one way it does this is through rigid economy. Waste of any kind, even when it is of minor proportions, is outlawed as soon as it is discovered. Buying is done with extreme care, so that the customers will find the goods they want when they come into the store. Efficiency is the watchword.

A wasteful retailer, who dissipated his resources, wouldn't last long—efficient competitors would take care of him. Government has no competition, and so it isn't subject to the laws of survival which govern business. But government waste saps the energy of the whole nation, weakens it, undermines its living standards, even endangers its security in a troubled world. On top of that, continued deficit financing by the government will inevitably raise prices and start inflation going all over again. Retailers, and everyone else, can perform an unrivaled public service by demanding government economy.

1949 Yearbook Tells Much About Trees

RECENTLY received in the mail was a copy of the year book of the U. S. Department of Agriculture which this year is titled Trees. It is one of the most comprehensive treatises on modern forestry to come to our attention in some time.

The attractive 994-page volume is edited with journalistic skill and imagination by Alfred Stefferud. Trees, forests and forest products are discussed in non-technical language by 161 contributors. An extensive section describes all the important forest trees of the United States so that the layman may identify them with ease.

If the average citizen would understand the heritage of his forests and their role in his very existence, he will seek out the 1949 Yearbook of Agriculture, Trees. After absorbing it he will realize the importance of the U. S. Forest Service as a public agency. The dedicated foresters of America have put between covers another major service to the welfare of their country.

Other Editorial Comments

A MEMO TO VETERANS (Milwaukee Journal)

We hope you saw the picture of the Tanforan race track that ran through all editions of The Journal of yesterday. It was on page 2. If you didn't see, go back and take a look.

Tanforan is quite a layout now. It is an old race plant, but was completely rebuilt in 1947 and 1948. The new grandstand section, built of steel and wood and concrete, is a dandy. It holds 7,000 spectators. The clubhouse, balcony and enclosure holds 3,000. Tanforan isn't quite in the class of Santa Anita and Hialeah, but it will do.

Tanforan was built when building materials were scarce. It was built when many of you were hunting for places to live, when building contractors were trying in every conceivable manner to get steel and lumber and cement. It was built when President Truman was demanding tighter controls on building materials and an end to all but housing and the most essential building work. At that time, incidentally, he was blaming the 80th congress for the lack of housing.

Tanforan, existing purely for pleasure and the profits of its owners—a race track that runs 40 days a year—was given clearance for the rebuilding project through the efforts of Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan, President Truman's military aide. He acted in behalf of his friends, the Tanforan owners.

Now how do you like that?

WILL THE GERMANS LEARN? (Grand Rapids Press)

Michigan's former governor, Murray D. Van Wagoner, now military governor of Bavaria, has had a disheartening experience with a flare up of anti-Semitism among Germans in his area. A venomous letter to a South German newspaper touched off a riot in which several Jews and policemen were injured.

This is not the only sign of a resurgence of Hitlerism noted by military government officials. They report that candidates in Sunday's parliamentary election made inflammatory speeches against the allies. None of the party leaders had a good word to say for the aid the western democracies have poured into Germany since the war, viewing it solely as reparations for bomb damage. There are demands that occupation troops be withdrawn, dismantling of war plants halted, the international Ruhr authority abolished, and Polish-occupied lands and the Saar returned to Germany.

Behind these harangues is an intense nationalism that seems to see all the right on the German side and blame all the injustices and ill will on the western democracies. There were two encouraging signs in the actual vote however: The extreme nationalist groups failed in persuading the Germans to boycott the election, as proved by the fact that 78.5 per cent of the voters turned out; and the more blatantly Nazi groups were turned down except in two of the states. Apparently Bavaria, where Van Wagoner had his trouble, was one of them.

With election over, we have another nice sour grapes crop.

Take My Word For It . . . Frank Colby

LET'S TALK ABOUT THE WORD "COUPLE"

The primary meaning of couple is, "that which joins two things together," from the Latin copula, "a bond or union."

In modern usage, the noun couple means "two things of the same kind connected together or considered together; a male and female associated together, as partners at a dance, a man and wife, etc."

Now some textbooks and quite a number of English teachers hold that it is incorrect to speak of a couple of dollars, a couple of days, a couple of apples, and so on, for the reason that the dollars, days, apples, etc., are not connected or joined together; hence, they cannot be spoken of as couples.

Such a stand is unrealistic and not in keeping with the facts of our language. Use of couple to designate "one or two, two or three, no more than two, a very small number" has been good English for centuries. For example:

"... let my sister come, and make me a couple of cakes."—2 Samuel, 13, 6.

"... a couple of short-legged hens."—Shakespeare.

There is another superstition that the word couple must always be used in a singular sense, as: the couple is, has, was, etc. That also is hair splitting.

The word couple may be used as a singu-

Stalin and Tito Break Definite

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington.—After a long backstage controversy a decision finally has been reached to grant a license to Yugoslavia to buy a steel blooming mill in the United States. This is highly significant, for it means the affirmation of a positive policy to extend help to Marshal Tito so that he will maintain his independence in the face of ever-mounting threats from Soviet Russia.

This is a deliberate and calculated policy taken in the interest of world peace. It is not that anyone in responsible position has developed any illusions about Tito. He is just what he always has been—a Communist with an indomitable and ruthless conviction that Communism is the only way of life.

But as the ever-louder thunder out of Moscow makes obvious, Tito's break with the Cominform is irreconcilable. The breach between Tito and his one-time mentor, Stalin, cannot be healed.

The real significance lies in the rift in the satellite bloc. The example is of overwhelming importance. If Tito can do it, then so can others. That explains the increasingly savage tone of the Moscow denunciations that now include the charge of "enemy" and "traitor."

WOULD BLOCK RUSSIA

If Tito can maintain his independence then there is a clear demonstration for all to see that even in Eastern Europe the effort of Moscow to keep nation states in complete subjection in the interests of Russian aggression will not necessarily succeed. This is the hope for peace implicit in Tito's national Communism.

Yugoslav exiles in this country—there are several layers out of the past—impatiently brush this reasoning aside. Whether it is national Communism or Russian Communism, they say, it is all the same.

While they rarely express the hope openly, they cherish the dream that the past out of which they came will be restored by conquering armies from the west spearheaded by the United States.

While that past, judged by any objective standard, might be infinitely preferable to the dictatorship of the present, there is the question of whether it could be restored. Even with the unlimited treasure and the rivers of blood poured out in the last war, the broken pieces of the past might not be forced together in the old mold which was often repressive and feudal.

OPPOSED STEEL TO JAPAN
In the backstage debate over the steel blooming mill, Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson cited his adamant opposition in the years leading up to World War II to shipments of steel and oil destined for Japan. Johnson was then assistant secretary of war and often in sharp opposition to his then chief, Secretary of War Harry Woodring.

"I was against sending a pound of steel or a quart of oil to Japan," Johnson said vehemently, "because I was convinced that they were preparing to make war on the United States."

But those favoring the policy of letting Tito have at least a minimum of help in this country pointed out a major difference between the two situations. The oil and steel that went to Japan were part of "business as usual." The steel mill for Yugoslavia is a "calculated risk" taken in the interests of peace.

In the license finally approved, the original request of the Yugoslav government has been scaled down. In the first instance it was for approximately $3,000,000. Therefore, it is more in the nature of a token than a major asset. It is, of course, to be paid for by the Tito government through the shipment to this country of minerals from Yugoslavia, some of which are in scarce supply and essential to the nation's stockpile.

At the same time an economic survey groups from the international bank is in Belgrade studying the possibility of a loan to be based on timber and mineral production. Optimistic reports from the Yugoslav capital have indicated that an amount up to $50,000,000 eventually may be approved. While that is undoubtedly too high, there appears a strong possibility of one of the type of production-guaranteed loans that the bank has made with such conspicuous success in other parts of the world.

Moscow has just recalled Ambassador Anatoli Lavrentiev from Belgrade, at the same time denying that this presages a break in diplomatic relations. Nevertheless, the report persists that Russia intends to make the break and the satellites will follow suit. Then Tito will be cut off from even formal relations with the great power on his border and his only chance to build the independence of his country will lie with the west.

lar noun or a plural noun depending on the thought intended.

It is often convenient and proper to use the plural sense in speaking of an engaged couple, a bride and groom, or a man and wife. Who would think of saying: "Look at it; isn't it a happy couple?" No one, of course. We say correctly: "Look at them; aren't they a happy couple?"

It would be awkward and pedantic to say, "The couple will spend its honeymoon in Florida." Correct and natural: . . . their honeymoon.

In short, there is no fixed grammatical rule. It is simply a matter of good usage and common sense.

If you want to speak of a couple of dollars, a couple of minutes, a couple of friends, do so by all means—you'll be using quite good English. If you want to refer to an engaged or married couple in the plural sense, do so, for it's a correct and long-established idiomatic usage.

No one can learn grammar without knowing the eight parts of speech. Mr. Colby's leaflet, C-14, explains the parts of speech in simple, non-technical language. For a copy, send 5c in coin, and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to him, care of Escanaba Daily Press, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 18, N. Y.

Reports of My Death Vastly Exaggerated

Good Evening By Clint Dunathan

TELEVISION—Majority of visitors to the U. P. State Fair this week are closer to a television set than they have ever been before.

The television display is in the exhibition building at the fair ground and it is attracting considerable attention, despite the general knowledge that reception here, so far distant from telecasting stations, is far from perfect. Talking to F. Allen Earle of Escanaba about the display, I was told that "television reception cannot be guaranteed here in Escanaba."

After hastening to point this out, Allen said that through the use of booster equipment, special antennas and so forth, television having a normal range of about 50 miles "can be received in this area satisfactorily under favorable weather conditions. But roughly speaking, we can 'get' television here three or four nights out of every week."

HISTORY—Perhaps you would like to know more about television than the image that appears on the screen. Allen Earle, referring to "Marketing" magazine, reports that the miracle of television really began way back in 1817—132 years ago.

In that year a Swedish chemist, Baron Berzelius, isolated selenium, a material capable of changing light energy into electrical energy. Many experiments were performed in both Europe and America to find a means of controlling the characteristics of selenium and using them to produce pictures—but to no avail.

DREAM LIVED ON—Despite the set-backs, the dream of television lived on.

In 1880 Maurice LeBlanc proposed breaking the picture down into small segments and sending them one at a time to the receiving point to be reassembled. This was to be done with revolving mirrors.

Then in 1884, in Germany, Paul Nipkow scanned a picture by spinning a spirally perforated disc. The spinning picture was divided into lines as viewed through the perforations. Each line of the picture was delivered to a selenium cell, but there was no satisfactory means of reception. Television was again at a virtual standstill.

Many theories were advanced in 1876 (the year of Bell's invention of the telephone) for the transmission of sight by electricity. In theory these proposals were almost identical with the most important principles of television as we know it today. But no actual working device was produced.

THE HUMAN FACE—Photoelectric cells were built early in this present century and Karl Braun used electricity for the first time in connection with television. But the beginning of World War I halted television development and the suggested full electronic system had to wait for a more favorable time.

The iconoscope, first modern television camera tube, was patented in 1923 by Zworykin. While he was working on an electric pick-up tube, Philo F. Farnsworth was developing an electric camera tube called the image dissector.

In 1926, with the aid of an apparatus, John Baird demonstrated in London that outlines could be transmitted. That same year in America C. F. Jenkins transmitted

INTO THE PAST

Ten Years Ago

Escanaba—Bids on a standard coupe to replace the present car used by the fire chief will be received by the city of Escanaba Tuesday, September 5, according to a form letter that has been sent to automobile dealers of the city by the city manager.

Escanaba—Attorney and Mrs. Joseph Roth of Chicago announce the birth of a daughter, on Thursday, August 17, at Passavant hospital. The baby is the first in the family. Mrs. Roth is the former Marian Coplan of this city, daughter of Mrs. Morris Coplan, 414 South Ninth street.

Manistique—Impressive ceremonies will mark the dedication of the American Legion Auxiliary Memorial Forest in the Hiawatha Forest near Manistique today.

Manistique—Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Schommer and daughter of Detroit are visiting here at the home of Mrs. Schommer's parents. Mrs. Schommer is the former Mary Arter.

Twenty Years Ago

Escanaba—The sixth annual convention of the Michigan Chiefs of Police will open today, attracting more than two hundred visitors from all over the state. The business sessions of the convention will be held in the Elks club.

Gladstone—Judge Thomas O'Donnell, representative of the organization department of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, and one of the best orators in the department, will deliver an address in Gladstone under the sponsorship of the Gladstone Aerie of Eagles, August 28.

Manistique—What was once the Brown Lumber Company sawmill at Manistique is now merely a mass of twisted metal and ashes as a result of a fire which wiped out the structure between 12 and 1 a. m. today.

Gladstone—Miss Bernice Swan, graduate nurse of Evanston, Ill., arrived here yesterday to visit with her parents for several months.

But it was not until the following year that Baird transmitted the image of a human face between one room and another by television. It was the first accomplishment of true television.

RAPID STRIDES—Since that time television has made rapid strides both here and abroad. Radio station WGY in Schenectady began regular television programs in May of 1928 and in September of that year televised the first melodrama. In August there had been a television demonstration in natural colors. Speech and light were simultaneously transmitted in March of 1930.

Television went back to the research laboratory at the end of 1932 and five stations that had conducted experimental broadcasts discontinued.

In 1934 in England regular broadcasts were started. In the same year in this country there was laid the first coast-to-coast cable of television programs. By 1939 television was an accomplished fact in this country. People began buying sets.

The late war again interrupted—but out of the war came new discoveries in electronics applicable to the field of television. In 1941 there were 10,000 sets in operation; by the end of this year the number is expected to be 4,000,000. Commercial sales are estimated from New York to St. Louis and will reach the West Coast by next year. It is feared predicted that network television will take the place of sound radio in the future. "Marketing" magazine reports.

Outdoor Advertising

Dear Editor:

The unmasked malice in the condemnation of outdoor advertising written up in the Good Evening Column is definitely unfair to the industry. Outdoor advertising is the oldest form of advertising. For thousands of years people have communicated with signs and symbols, when very few could read or write. The most ancient civilization in the world, the Chinese, based their writing on signs and symbols. In the old days the shoemaker's boot, the druggist's mixing bowl, and many others adorned a business man's shingle.

Today the outdoor sign industry in Michigan represents millions in invested capital. The annual expenditures in paint, steel, special equipment, and other materials run into untold millions. Sixty thousand persons are employed in this state alone, not including commercial artists and lithographic employees. Personally I use both radio and newspaper advertising in my business as both have their place in the field, but let's not overlook the fact that outdoor advertising has its place also. The show windows on a main street are glass billboards for the merchant to show and sell his wares. The street signs direct people and the business signs show people where they can obtain service. The Michigan State Highway Dept. maintains an excellent sign system on our highways for safety and direction. I have a letter on file written to me by a popular U. P. Development executive, who not quite being sold on outdoor advertising, but after making an extensive motor trip to Florida was convinced of its merits. He stated that Escanaba and vicinity in particular had a very efficient and effective outdoor advertising system attracting its tourists, and that more of it should be done. Column writers should bear in mind that the long green stuff they draw on paydays comes from the nasty commercial ads newspapers must endure. Also those unbearable radio commercials keep the radio stations humming on a paying basis. All mediums of advertising have faults, however because a few people tack up homemade signs along highways in wrong places let's not get out the ax for billboard advertising. If a man invests $50,000 in a resort would he build a half mile back in the brush and then erect a scenic sign saying "Secluded Nook." He may as well plant a tombstone. The boys in the tourist business know what pays off and just what the tourists go for. There is no legitimate outdoor board in Escanaba or vicinity to my knowledge that is obstructing any scenic view, but I can show you some hiding dumping grounds.

The tourist industry, bringing millions of tourist dollars, look for neon signs telling them where to hunt, fish, or enjoy their favorite recreation. The point is, outdoor advertising has its place in the U. P. as well as other mediums—lets live and let live. It seems now days when columnists have no material they take a whack at someone. It is a national pastime and good men are afraid to take public office because of this malicious criticism. The boys in Escanaba engaged in outdoor advertising are good citizens and taxpayers and are just trying to make an honest living.

Harold Meiers.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

(Editor's Note—While Drew Pearson is on vacation, the Washington Merry-Go-Round will be written by his old partner, Robert S. Allen.)

BY ROBERT S. ALLEN

Washington.—A high U. S. official just returned from a tour of the Middle East reports one outstanding impression.

It is this: That, amid the welter of assassination, intrigue and autocratic rule in this ancient cockpit, the prestige and power of the United States stands out like a gleaming beacon.

The official related this episode to prove his point:

Following the attempted slaying some months ago of the Shah of Iran, he imposed iron-handed martial rule. The Iranian press particularly felt the weight of the Shah's fury. Seventeen liberal, non-Communist newspapers were suppressed and their editors thrown into jail. He also ordered them tried on charges of subversive activities.

To support these charges, articles dating back as far as 20 years were brought into court against the editors.

Despite these extreme measures, only six were convicted.

U. S. ambassador in Iran is John Wiley. An able, tough-minded career man, he has been an outstanding success in his delicate and arduous post. A firm believer in democracy and freedom of the press, Wiley, privately, was shocked by the autocratic persecution of the editors. But because it was a strictly internal affair, he meticulously kept hands off until after the six editors were sentenced.

Several days later, Wiley sent each of them a small package. It consisted of one pack of American cigarettes—with Wiley's personal card.

Nothing was written on the card. Also, there was nothing secret about Wiley's action. His chauffeur delivered the packages to the prison and turned them over to the warden to give to the editors. That was all there was to it.

The Shah, of course, was immediately informed. Also, he got the point.

The following day, the editors were pardoned.

Note—Because of Wiley's penetrating and forthright reports to the state department, the Iranian ambassador in Washington is very hostile toward him. The Iranian has repeatedly tried to undermine Wiley.

NO MERGER

Behind-the-scenes, the widely publicized merger between Amvets and AVC has gotten nowhere. Reason is strong rank-and-file opposition in both veteran organizations. At the bottom of this are two factors: Amvet membership is much more conservative than AVC, and a confidential memorandum sent out by AVC Commander Harold A. Keats. In this document, he stresses the financial benefits that will accrue to Amvets by absorbing the 35,000 AVC dues-paying members.

AVC officials are aware that Amvets headquarters is hard up and that its national officers draw $35,000 a year in salaries and expenses.

Miss Packard
Bride, Wedding
In Sioux City

Of interest in Escanaba is the wedding August 9 in Sioux City, Iowa, of Miss Patricia Packard, daughter of Mrs. W. J. Clark, G. Packard of 1209 South 15th street, Escanaba, and Don Roger Yungclas of Webster City.

The candlelight service was read at 4:30 in the First Methodist church by Rev. George W. Dunn, before an altar banked with baskets of yellow gladioli.

Miss Faith Woodford, organist, accompanied Miss Lovice Sturtevant who sang "At Dawning" and "Through the Years."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of imported organdy over tulle, the three-tiered skirt, trimmed with embroidered organdy, ending in a short train. Her fingertip veil of tulle was caught to a crown of wax beads from her mother's wedding veil.

The bridesmaids, Miss Margie Marksbury and Miss Carol Runnels, wore green and yellow gowns, respectively, of dotted swiss over tulle and flower-trimmed matching poke bonnets and they carried old fashioned bouquets of flowers to match their gowns.

Bruce and Tom Yungclas were attendants for their brother and Gordon Packard and Kreg Yungclas were ushers.

Home In Grinnell

Mrs. Packard wore black sheer for her daughter's wedding and Mrs. Yungclas wore navy blue. Their flowers were gladioli corsages.

A reception in the church parlors followed the ceremony.

The newlyweds after a wedding trip through the Black Hills will live in Grinnell, Ia., where both are students at Grinnell college.

Peter Sabourins Observing
Golden Wedding On Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Sabourin, of Schaffer, widely known pioneer residents of that community, are celebrating their golden wedding anniversary on Sunday, August 21.

A family reunion will be held during the weekend of the occasion, and the events of the day will include a high mass at Sacred Heart church at 10 o'clock, a family dinner at the church hall at noon, and open house during which Mr. and Mrs. Sabourin will greet all their old neighbors and friends, also at the church hall, in the afternoon and evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Sabourin were married in Bark River and have lived in the Schaffer community for over 50 years. Both were born in Canada.

Their family includes six children, Miss Renelle Sabourin of Detroit, Edward of Waukegan, Ill., Rene of Escanaba, Louis of Schaffer, Mrs. Anthony Maloney of Detroit and Francis of Kenosha, and 12 grandchildren.

Miss Renelle and Mr. and Mrs. Maloney and three children are here from Detroit to join their parents in the 50th anniversary observance.

Gladiolus Show
Opens Today At
U. P. State Fair

The general flower exhibit in the floriculture department of the Upper Peninsula State fair was replaced today by exhibits from all parts of Michigan and Wisconsin in the first annual state fair gladiolus show.

The exhibit of the beautiful flowers, now at the full peak of their season, will be one of the big attractions in the main exhibition building the final days of the fair.

Jack Gartner of Michigan State college, East Lansing, is superintendent of the show, assisted by Gail E. Beck of the University of Wisconsin, Madison, Paul Ravet, of Menominee, commercial bulb grower, who is director, and a special committee.

The gladioli, of striking beauty in their rainbow color arrangement, are on the floriculture department pyramid stands in uniform green containers, which, with small sprays of cedar form the solid green background for the blooms.

Amateur and Professional
The exhibits represent two classes, the amateur grower, this limited to the Upper Peninsula, who raises gladioli for his own pleasure in his back yard garden and sells neither flowers nor bulbs, and the professional growers.

The later department is open to all professional growers, and the U. P. State Fair show includes many entries from Lower Michigan and Wisconsin. Judging is done on regulations carefully based on department and classification.

The gladiolus show which undoubtedly will be a feature of future Upper Peninsula State fairs is made possible by the Michigan Gladiolus society in cooperation with the fair board.

Ed Jernstrom On Vacation Trip

Ed A. Jernstrom, 809 South 11th street, well known Escanaba businessman and sportsman, is leaving tomorrow for Duluth to meet his brother, Dr. Roy E. Jernstrom of Rapid City, S. D., and Dr. Jernstrom's son, Roger, a medical student at the University of Minnesota, and join them on a two weeks' fishing and camping trip from Grand Marais, Minn., to the Pigeon River.

They will be joined in Duluth at the home of Dr. Jernstrom's daughter, Mrs. Elaine Hammar, by Mrs. Linda Jernstrom, their mother, a former resident of Escanaba, who makes her home with Dr. Jernstrom. Mrs. Jernstrom, who will be 80 years old in December, has been in Pasadena visiting her sister, and flying from California to Duluth, for the family reunion.

Following the camping trip Mr. Jernstrom and his mother will go to Minneapolis to spend a week at the Minnesota state fair and they will be guests there of Mr. Jernstrom's sister, Mrs. Esther Dorfner, and of his nephews.

More Fishermen
Coming To State

Michigan is attracting about eight per cent more outstate fishermen than last year, license sales figures released by the conservation department reveals.

License dealers have sold 90,000 temporary and annual nonresident licenses through July, compared to 83,000 last year at this time. Tabulations show 567,000 sales of resident fishing licenses, an increase of about two and one-half per cent over the 553,000 issued in the first seven months of 1948. Trout stamp sales were up from 117,800 to 121,200.

Michigan residents pay $1.50 for an annual license while the fee for nonresidents is $3.00. Nonresidents are issued a 10-day license for $2.00.

WAR ON THE 'HOPPERS

A grasshopper plague is threatening America's grain belt. The signs last spring were right. The 'hopper population had been growing for three years. Up in Wyoming and Montana—a notorious breeding ground for migratory hoppers—experts of the U.S. Department of Agriculture counted as many as 1,500 of the hungry insects to the square yard. Frightened farmers sent out a cry for help. The result: a million dollar appropriation from Congress to launch the first aerial war on grasshoppers in history. The U.S.D.A. mapped out a 1,500,000-acre stretch of southern Montana and northern Wyoming—a plague "danger" area—and threw 30 planes into the battle. The weapons were two new types of poison—toxaphene and Chlordane—so deadly that five pounds of saturated bran was enough in most cases to kill all the grasshoppers on an acre. But the war is far from over. Millions of acres of grasslands are being ruined in Wyoming and Montana, and the pests are threatening an invasion of Utah, Arizona, the Dakotas and Minnesota. Congress is being asked to appropriate an additional $1,500,000 to fight the scourge. Here is how the aerial war is being waged against the 'hoppers.

TRUNKFUL. These 'hoppers are sunning themselves in the early morning before taking off for the green grass beyond.

PLANE is loaded with poison bait which is hauled from the mixing station into the loading elevator. It is then discharged into a hopper partitioned off from the passenger cabin.

RAVAGED. This was a promising wheat field in Tripp County, S. Dak., until an army of grasshoppers descended on it. There is nothing to harvest there now.

IN TEST, particles of bait dropped are collected on plates. Pilots will then know how much to use for maximum kill.

WINGED adult 'hoppers take to air in Nevada while nymphs march in great numbers toward cultivated fields.

KEEN APPETITE. Inspector Leo Ivanson inspects hoppers who were foolish enough to light on poisoned bran

Women Alcoholics On Increase, Says Report Of WCTU

Philadelphia (AP)—Women alcoholics and habitual drunkards in the United States have increased to an all-time high of 800,000, an officer of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union reports.

Mary B. Ervin, vice president at large of the WCTU, told the organization's executive committee the current increase in women drink victims is at the rate of 120,000 a year.

The executive committee met prior to the opening of the group's 75th national convention.

Miss Ervin said the number of women alcoholics and drunkards is shown by projection of the percentage of women alcoholics committed to mental institutions and psychopathic wards of general hospitals into the 4,000,000 alcoholics and drunkards in the country.

"Census bureau reports issued last year," she said, "show that one of every four of the 37,303 alcoholics admitted to the institutions were women. Projection of the same ratio into the 4,000,000, plus verifying information, places women alcoholics at 800,000 as compared to 680,000 the year previously."

Miss Ervin listed as one of the reasons for increased drinking of liquor among women as "liquor, wine and beer advertising that depicts drinking by women as socially smart and glamorous."

She gave as other reasons: congestion of bars and liquor stores in residential neighborhood shopping streets; alcoholic beverage departments in grocery and drug stores and kitchen and basement barroom drinking in the home."

Rare African Plant Controls Arthritis

New York (AP)—The New York Times said Tuesday that a rare African plant offers an unlimited source of cortisone, which has shown promise in the treatment of arthritis and rheumatic fever.

In a Washington dispatch, the Times said the plant—a species of genus strophanthus sarmentosus—is expected to become one of the most important in the world.

Former Priest Takes Bride In California; 700 Attend As Guests

Phoenix, Ariz., (AP)—A former Catholic priest and his bride are honeymooning in California. They were married at Buckeye, Ariz., 35 miles west of here, Saturday night before 700 guests and a guard of pistol-toting sheriff's deputies.

The bridegroom, Emmett McLoughlin, had asked that the deputies be assigned to prevent any trouble, Deputy Sheriff Woody Killman said.

None materialized as the 42-year-old hospital superintendent and his bride, Mary Davis, 34, a striking brunette divorcee were married before Superior Court Judge Charles Bernstein, a member of the Jewish faith.

The ceremony was held in the garden of the home of Ralph Watkins, former high potentate of the Phoenix Shrine Temple.

The bride's previous husbands, from whom she was divorced, are Dr. L. Manoli of Phoenix and Dr. Richard McGovney of Santa Barbara, Calif.

The couple met at St. Monica's hospital, where McLoughlin is superintendent. He founded the institution and withdrew from the priesthood rather than accept transfer elsewhere.

Among the guests at the wedding were 150 doctors; the mayor of Phoenix, a former governor of Arizona and the state's attorney general.

Forest Report Is Completed

Copper Country Area Surveyed By Tech

Houghton—The Forest Products Research Division of the Michigan College of Mining and Technology recently published a complete report of forest resources in the Copper Country area. The report was prepared by Professor Arlie W. Toole, under the direction of Dr. Herford Garland, in charge of the division.

The publication of the survey is a result of a request submitted to the college by the Copper Country Regional Planning Commission. The commission has been assembling exhaustive reports of all types of resources in the four-county area in which the group operates. The reports will ultimately constitute a factual basis upon which industrial development may be planned.

The forest resources report includes a detailed survey of land use in the Copper Country, analyzes wood raw material resources available, and gives rather exhaustive data on present forest industries activity. It also analyzes the economic possibilities for development concerning both development and stabilization in those industries.

In assembling the material for the report, Professor Toole was assisted by the Forest Products Research Advisory committee and by the Lakes States Forest Experiment Station, as well as by the members of the division staff at the college.

Copies of the report are now being distributed to persons interested in the economic development of the area and to businesses and industries which might be attracted by the forest resources of the Copper Country.

Potential value of the new seed was kept quiet, the Times said, for fear it might touch off a "gold rush" to African territory that might shut out the U. S.

Discovery of the plant in Liberia, however, assures the U. S. of a fair opportunity to harvest it since American capital is invested in that republic.

The Times saw in cultivation of the plant a possible aid in solving world economic and medical problems since demand will greatly exceed supply for many years, especially in the U. S.

Possibilities of cortisone in control of Arthritis and rheumatic fever were discovered by Dr. Philip S. Hench of the Mayo Clinic, who announced it last April.

The Times emphasized that cortisone does not cure the disease. But acts to check and control them when given in daily injections.

Marks On Slabs Identified By Local Oldtimer

There was nothing mysterious about the log marks recently found on some slab wood in Indian river, and told about in a recent issue of the Daily Press.

Charles Nelson, of Manistique avenue readily identified them. "I ought to know at least one of them," he said. "I used to mark logs for the Chicago Lumber Company and there were only a few marks used in those days."

The criss-cross mark was that of the Chicago Lumber Company. It bore the nickname of the "picture frame" mark. The other mark, a circle with a cross in the center was that used by the Western Lumber Company. This was known as the "Apple Pie" brand, because it had the appearance of a pie cut into four pieces.

The brands were found on slabs that had been cut up for fire wood.

Shakespeare Popular In Central Asia

Moscow (AP)—Shakespeare continues to be a popular author among the peoples of Central Asia. The paper "Soviet Art" announced recently that Hamlet had been put on at the Uzbek Theatre of Drama in Tashkent.

In Moscow when the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the Moscow Art Theatre was celebrated last fall, a group of actors from Central Asia put on a scene from "The Taming of the Shrew" in their native language.

Shakespeare's plays are presented in many of the national languages of the peoples of the USSR—and of course in Russian also—in Moscow and elsewhere.

Employees Of Pulp And Paper Mill Plan Big Picnic

Employees of the Manistique Pulp & Paper Company will hold their annual picnic next Sunday at the Hruska farm near Thompson.

The big outing will conform largely to the usual pattern of such events with games, contests, races, softball games and tug of war with suitable prizes for all who participate.

Each family attending is asked to bring along a well filled hamper of lunch. Hot dogs, coffee, cream and sugar will be furnished by the committee.

Arrangements for the picnic are being handled by a series of committees. Reynold Anderson is chairman of the grounds committee assisted by Don Mendenhall, Alden McLearn, Pete Udell, Eric Thornberg, and Willis Siltaka. In charge of activities is Frank Holik, chairman, assisted by Earl LaBrasseur, Addie Boyd, Leon DeMars, Clarence Peterson, Frank Kasun and Clifford Jackson.

Andy Knopp is chairman of the general refreshment committee, assisted by LeRoy Fox, Violet Steinkamp, Eva Martin, Herb Asp, Jack Barnes and Harry Kinnie. Dennis Gouin, John Veltz, Peyer Rozich, Mike Fagan and Peter Burns will lend a hand to Earl Cowman, chairman of the Adult Refreshment committee.

Walter Burns has been appointed marshal of the day. The hours of the picnic are from 10 in the morning until nine in the evening.

Paper Mill Ready For Green Bay Team

The Paper Mill, newly crowned district class A champions, expect plenty of competition from Washington Bar of Green Bay when they meet in an exhibition game at Memorial Field Sunday night at 8:45. The Green Bay nine is coming to Escanaba "loaded for bear" after hearing about the latest triumphs of the Paper Mill and their fastball pitcher, Steve Vugrin.

The visitors have proved that they have a strong ball club by their consistent performances in Wisconsin tournaments. Their first string pitcher is Don Latus, one of the best amateur hurlers north of Milwaukee. Their infield is exceptionally fast and their outfield is capable on defense and outstanding at the bat. In thirty games played this season the team as a whole has averaged six runs a contest, while their opposition has been held to an average of three scores per game.

The Paper Mill has come up fast recently after a dismal early-season record. They have moved up to third place in the American league and have a good chance to overtake NuWay Glens next week and take over the runner-up spot. Last weekend they won the class A championship of this district by defeating Liberty Loan, 8 to 0, in the finals. Sunday night's contest should be a good tune-up for the U. P. finals to be held in Ishpeming on August 26, 27, and 28.

The first half of Sunday night's twin bill should be a thriller. It gets under way at 7:30 and it brings together Northland Stars and Escanaba Steam Laundry in a crucial National league tilt. A loss for either team might mean the championship of the junior circuit.

Full Schedule Of Games In Junior Softball Tourney

A full schedule of games is booked tonight for the Upper Peninsula Junior softball tournament.

In the 11-14 division, Digheras Market of Negaunee will play Lindberg Indians at 6:30 at Dock diamond and NuWay Juniors will play the winner of Hamlin's Baker-Sandys at 6:00 at the lighted field. Hamlin's and Sandys will play at two o'clock this afternoon.

In the 14-17 group, the Ironwood team, NABC, will play the Ring Dings of Gladstone at 9:15 at the lighted field. The Negaunee Merchants will play the Gladstone Cardinals at 7:00 p. m., lighted field. The Gladstone Indians advanced to the semi-finals by virtue of Escanaba Township's default Thursday night.

Semi-final games in the 14-17 tournament and final games in both divisions will be played Saturday night.

When farmers add new replacements to the herd, they consider the quality of the heifer raised as compared to the quality of the cow purchased, the risk of introducing disease through purchased cows, and whether or not the new cow fits in with the program of herd improvement on the farm.

Scientific "palm reading" done by X-raying the hands often will enable the physician to detect many diseases otherwise difficult to diagnose.

Veterans Lead Golf Tourney

Harrison And Ferrier Tied At Grand Rapids

By CHARLES C. CAIN

Grand Rapids, Mich., Aug. 19 (AP)—A couple of veteran campaigners, E. J. (Dutch) Harrison and Jim Ferrier, were out in front today as the $15,000 Grand Rapids Open golf tournament moved into the second round.

The two seasoned players, who went a round almost without a gallery in the opening round of the four-day tournament yesterday, turned in some sparkling golf.

Harrison, playing out of St. Andrews, Ill., carded a 65, seven under par over the long Cascade Hills Country Club course. He had seven birdies and an eagle on his round which tied the course record. On the incoming nine, Harrison came up with a red-hot 31, five under par.

That stood up as the best incoming nine of the day until Ferrier, one of the final starters, came up with a 30 after taking 36 going out.

The big San Franciscan was aided by two perfect up shots. One, a 40-yard poke on the 13th hole and the other, a 30-yard shot on the 18th. Each netted him an eagle.

The big gallery followed dapper Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago, the No. 3 money winner among the nation's pros this year, and Chick Harbert, the long-driving Detroit.

Mangrum had a 34-33-67 to stay in the thick of the fight for the $2,600 first prize money. Harbert's putter misbehaved and he finished with a mediocre 38-37-75. The comparative solitude did not seem to bother either Harrison or Ferrier in their respective matches. Harrison ran into major trouble only once and that was on the 18th hole where his second shot was trapped deeply. He blasted his way out to within six feet of the pin and dropped the putt for a birdie.

Harbert and Horton Smith of Detroit shared the unwelcome honors of having the coldest putter on the opening day round. Neither could get a long one to drop and their trouble on the green nullified their long wood and iron shots.

BANK ROLL—Ray Evans turned down a reported $20,000 contract for second season of professional football with Pittsburgh Steelers. The former Kansas All-America halfback will devote his time to future, and to bank jobs in City National Bank of Kansas City, Mo.

Baptism Precedes Chinese Execution

New York (AP)—In a roundup of Communists in a Nationalist section of China recently, General Li Chi Pin discovered among the Communists some who had learned about doctrines of the Catholic Church and wanted to be baptized.

One day, reports the Society for the Propagation of the Faith, the military chief told a local priest one of the Communists wanted to be baptized. "You should not come Father, he warned. "We will baptize him ourselves."

The next morning at sunrise the Communists were executed. In the afternoon the military chief returned with a smile on his face. "Well, how did everything go?" asked the priest. "Very well, Father. I stood next to him and when the music stopped immediately before the execution I baptized him. Before the water was dry on his head, he was already in the other world. He never had a chance to damn his soul!"

Lind In Finals At Ann Arbor

Michigan Golfer Plays Purdue Sophomore

Ann Arbor, Mich., Aug. 19 (AP)—Deliberate Dean Lind, a lanky six-footer from the University of Michigan, and Norman Dunlap, a short, despectacle scrapper from Purdue, meet here today for the Western Junior golf championship.

The two 19-year-olds, both sophomores, tee off on the final 36-hole lap of the 6,660-yard University of Michigan course at 9:30 a. m. (EST).

The lone survivors of a starting field of 80-odd young golfers, Lind and Dunlap are expected to provide top-flight competition over every step of the rolling, par-72 layout.

To the winner goes the title vacated by Purdue's Gene Coulter, whose recent 20th birthday made him ineligible for the WGA tourney.

The edge, if any, must go to Lind, National USGA junior champion from Rockford, Ill., who hasn't been seriously challenged since the four-day tournament started.

Dunlap, Indiana State junior king, fought most of the way to the finals. His home is in Terre Haute, Ind.

Yesterday, Lind had little difficulty disposing of tournament medalist Reggie Myles, Jr., of Lansing, Mich., 8 and 6, in the morning, and Don Peat of St. Louis, Mo., 7 and 5, in the afternoon.

Dunlap, chipping with near-deadly efficiency, punched out a 1 up win over Dick Evans, Ohio State Amateur champion from Shaker Heights in the morning. Later he took Miles Schlapik, Chicago, 3 and 2.

Peat worked into the quarter-finals by defeating James Pollock, Westerville, O., 1 up in 19 holes. Schlapik took Bob Olson, 1948 runner-up, 3 and 2.

Tigers Blank Chicago Sox

Detroit Can Regain First Division

St. Louis, Aug. 19 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers, in-again-out-again members of the American league's first division, have a good chance to get in again today.

They could do it by winning both ends of a twilight-night doubleheader with the last-place St. Louis Browns.

The Tigers, after beating Chicago 2 to 0 in the Windy City yesterday, are just one percentage point behind the fourth-run Philadelphia Athletics. The A's play just one game tomorrow, a night affair with New York.

Hal Newhouse and Art Houtteman were named to pitch against the Browns.

Yesterday's win over the White Sox broke a streak of three runless games for the Bengals and was a right-hander, Freddie Hutchinson's seventh straight victory.

Detroit didn't do a great deal of scoring, but the two runs the Tigers collected were enough for Hutch, who weathered several bad spots to best young Billy Pierce, a former Tiger.

It was a sad one for Pierce to lose, because he allowed only three Detroit hits and both the runs resulted from White Sox errors.

In the first inning, Billy walked Don Kolloway. George Kell sacrificed him to second and then he scored when Chicago Second Baseman bobbled Vic Wertz's grounder.

That run broke scoreless streaks for both Detroit batters and Chicago pitchers. Nineteen innings had gone by since the Bengals had put over a run, and White Sox hurler Bill Wright, Bob Kuhl and Mickey Haefer had blanked their opponents for 28 frames in a row.

In the third singles by Kell and Wertz and the throwing error of Centerfielder Herb Adams accounted for the other Detroit run. That was all Pierce gave up until he retired after the eighth inning. The Tigers picked up a pair of hits off his successor, Mario Pieteri in the ninth, but couldn't score.

Hutchinson's worst threat came in the eighth, when the Sox loaded the bases with one out on two singles and a pass to Pinch-Hitter George Metkovich.

Johnny Groth saved him by making a fine catch of Adams' short fly, and Freddie got Dave Philley to fly to left and end the inning.

In the ninth Luke Appling opened with a single, and Virgil Trucks was sent in to relieve Hutch. Trucks retired Chicago in short order, to give Hutchinson his 12th win of the season against four defeats.

New Sedative Is Taken Off Market

Washington.—Withdrawal of a new sedative, Presidin, from the market followed reports of its possible ill effects, the Food and Drug Administration announced here. The action was taken voluntarily by the manufacturer, Hoffman La Roche, of Nutley, N. J. George F. Larick, associate Food and Drug Commissioner, said several reports indicating that the drug may be lowering the white blood count prompted the company to contact all doctors, hospitals, wholesalers, and retail druggists in the U. S. to stop using the drug.

The drug has been widely used in Europe for the last seven or eight years and is believed to have originated in Switzerland.

Are Yankees Great, Or Are They Merely Lucky?

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Are the New York Yankees a greater club than most realize, or are they just plain lucky?

There are two schools of thought on that subject. Undoubtedly, the Yankees are getting more than their share of breaks this season. But their backers insist that's just what makes them a great club.

Pacific Coast Favors Changes In Bowl Rules

By JACK HEWINS
(For Hugh S. Fullerton Jr.)

Seattle, Aug. 19 (AP)—It gets embarrassing.

There was even a fan who suggested, after Northwestern waxed California last Jan. 1, that the Rose Bowl game be moved to Maine. "It will be," he snarled, "a cold day when the Pacific Coast conference whips the Big Ten."

It isn't so much the monotony of defeat (1947-48-49) that rankles, but the knowledge that the corn belt conference sent its second best club west for the latest football scramble in the attic dish. And next year it might be the No. 3 outfit.

A lot of West Coast alumni have the feeling their conference barged into the five-year pact without reading the fine print. That's where it says the Big Ten will send its champion, the Rose Bowl it must let two years elapse before it plucks another bouquet of football roses.

Thus Michigan, which made the pleasant and lucrative jaunt to Pasadena in 1948, the Northwest is kings-exiled for 1950. If they finish 1-2 this year in the Big Ten race, some other team will have to take that long ride west. If it should beat the best in the P. C. C.—Ah, horrors!

There is no guarantee that the "best" in the far west will be there, either. The P. C. C. crowns no champion, but picks its Rose Bowl team by vote of the conference. Last year California, which had won seven conference games, was given the call over Oregon, which won eight. You can still get yourself an argument over which was the better team.

But the athletic departments of P. C. C. schools are squirming over those three successive defeats. The athletic representatives, who wield the power by casting the vote, have felt the pressure. The contract with the Big Ten runs out in 1951; it won't be renewed if the two-year joker stays in.

There were schools, or a school, in the Big Ten which wouldn't go along on the original deal without it. And there was a P. C. C. school, or schools, which treated the idea coolly at first.

Now the Pacific half of the agreement is fairly well satisfied with everything except the three wallpops it has taken in the Bowl since 1947. There will, it feels, come a day...

The two circuits never intended to set up a national championship game, but merely to match two of the major loops in an annual tilt that would be operated entirely by the conferences.

They anticipated the action of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, which ruled this week that no member school could send its team to a bowl game unless 80 per cent of the gross went to the competing colleges. It further tipped the gold out of the football bowls for sponsors by demanding that game expenses be paid out of the remaining 20 per cent.

First downs: The P. C. C. has stricter "free ride" rules than its midwestern neighbor and feels it's handicapped in grabbing off the top athletes. A coach can't talk to a prospect unless the prospect talks to him first. A mentor once whispered in our ear "go tell that boy over there he wants to see me." It didn't take P. C. C. alumni long to learn it is verboten to corral a boy to play football, but you can rone, tie and deliver him to your fraternity as a prospective brother. Just because he happens to play football is no fault of yours....

Teams Picked For Walker Cup

British Captain Will Not Be In Action

By WHITNEY MARTIN
Mamaroneck, N. Y., Aug. 19 (AP)—There will be two non-playing captains as the British and American teams tee off today in the opening Scotch foursomes of the Walker Cup competition over the Winged Foot course.

It was known that Francis Ouimet would not compete for the Americans, but the withdrawal of British leader Percy (Laddie) Lucas in favor of 19-year-old Arthur Perowne came as a distinct surprise.

Lucas, a southpaw, in announcing his team's lineup said he was off his game.

The affable Lucas also came through with another surprise when he placed Max McCready and Jim Bruen, rated the Britons' strongest pair, in the No. 2 position, thus pitting less-prominent Joe Carr and Ronald White against the American's top duo—Willie Turnesa and Ray Billows.

That match will open the competition at 9 a. m. Fifteen minutes later McCready and Bruen will tee off against Frank Stranahan and Chuck Kocsis, the No. 2 American combination.

The third match brings together Skee Riegel and Ted Bishop for the Americans and Cecil Ewing and Gerald Micklem. The final foursome matches Johnny Dawson and Brice McCormick against Perowne and another youthful Briton, Ken Thom. Lucas usually pairs with Thom.

In the Scotch foursome competition the two players on each side take alternate shots at the same ball.
